FAQ
Portfolium

WHAT IS PORTFOLIUM?

Portfolium is an e-portfolio network that allows you to visually showcase your work and projects directly to employers, faculty, and fellow students/alumni. The social networking features built into Portfolium make it fun, simple, and powerful. You can directly correlate your academic work to competencies prospective employers value most.

WHY SHOULD I USE PORTFOLIUM WHEN I HAVE A LINKEDIN ACCOUNT?

Portfolium and LinkedIn can be used in conjunction with each other. You can even enhance your LinkedIn profiles by embedding digital representations of earned skills and competencies from your academic experiences to showcase these alongside the professional experiences typically featured on LinkedIn profiles.

Since Portfolium is designed for college students, you can take advantage of the network of people who might not necessarily be on LinkedIn. Faculty and staff, for example, are on board to help you rework the curating of your artifacts until they are ready for publishing. Also, there is no limit to the number of artifacts you can post, tag, or categorize in Portfolium, and there is no limit to the amount of data you can publish for each of these samples. This flexibility provides potential employers with access to all the data they need relating to the demonstration of a particular skill or competency.

HOW CAN I ACCESS PORTFOLIUM?

There are several ways to access Portfolium, but since Portfolium is GSU's chosen platform for the College to Career initiative, you might want to visit the College to Career website at www.gsu.edu/collegetocareer. Here, you'll not only be able to learn about the CTC initiative, but you'll be able to access Portfolium by clicking on the Portfolium link at the top right of any page on the site. If you already know about the College to Career initiative and you want to go directly to Portfolium, you can visit it at:
